

Great land reptiles, called dinosaurs, and other prehistoric creatures lived on Earth millions of years ago. No one has ever seen a living dinosaur, but we know about them today because fossil dinosaur bones have been found all around the world.

